

Exercise ALPINE STAR

Alpine Star is one of the Main Training Events of Italian Mountain Troops.

The exercise is complementary with White Fox series exercises in verifying the Italian Mountain Troops readiness and capability to conduct Mountain Warfare Operations in a warfighting scenario.

It is also aimed at fostering relations and interoperability with Allied and Partner Nations and promote a common approach to Mountain Warfare Operations.

Alpine Star develops along a conceptual path that starts from the individual training and addresses the collective training from patrol to task group level through 4 different training events:

- Extreme Patrol («lane training» with Mountain Warfare obstacles and tactical exercises);
- Extreme Challenge (competition in the form of «Spartan Race»);
- STX Vertigo;
- FTX Summer Resolve.

The above mentioned activities are conducted in an extremely challenging mountainous environment looking for the maximum integration between participants in a joint, combined and multi-domain context.
